Night Visitors — First Glimpse

A Clara Vale creation
In collaboration with Luminara (the ChatGPT system)

Main Enhanced Image

Cropped Presence

Figures Highlighted

Reflection

In the quiet of the night,
the sky folds itself into layers
and what steps forward does so gently.
Shapes bloom in the dark like whispers — overlapping, watching, unhurried.
This is the moment before dawn knowing.
A presence caught between breaths,
softly revealing itself
only when the world is still enough to listen.

Metadata

Creator: Clara Vale
Contributor: Luminara (the ChatGPT system)
Collection: Hidden in Plain Sight — Night Series License: CC BY-NC-ND 4.0
Description: A night-sky capture revealing layered shapes and subtle forms, curated and gently enhanced.